

A unique service we offer our customers as part of our comprehensive digital media, mailing, packaging and e-fulfilment service is address verification and mail barcoding. This service enables our customers to access discounted postage rates and improve address data quality within their organisation.

Upon coming across and evaluating Datablue AVM it was a simple decision to implement Datablue AVM as our address verification solution of choice. Datablue AVM has provided us with an intuitive and easy to use solution that works with our client's data regardless of the format it is provided to us.

Datablue has also been very helpful, both in resolving any issues we have experienced as well as providing valuable advice on the lodgement of barcoded mail and explaining the process of address verification.

We are constantly impressed with the new features and enhancements Datablue is adding to their products and the proactive nature with which they seek and use customer feedback.

It is a pleasure to be associated with Datablue and I would not hesitate in recommending Datablue AVM to any organisation that is looking for a reliable, easy to use address validation and mail barcoding solution.
